Interests & Experiences

State your background, including your education, work experience, civic or community organization memberships and positions, and any professional licenses or memberships, and explain how this applies to the function of the board, council or committee.

My name is Dave Monroe and I have worked at St. Petersburg College in the Applied Ethics Department since 2006. I also served for seven years as department chair and took a turn as Assistant Dean. I have participated on numerous committees; I'm very comfortable in working meetings and I am a dedicated educator. I was a student at SPC before earning my BA in philosophy at the University of West Florida, my MA in philosophy with a concentration in ethics from Western Michigan University, and am in the process of finishing my Ph.D. in philosophy (again, focusing on ethics) with the University of Staffordshire in England. My life has been dedicated to educating people and improving not only their knowledge base but abilities to think critically and engage meaningfully in our democratic society. I am a member of a number of professional organizations, including the American Philosophical Association and Florida Philosophical Associations. For the latter, I have served on the undergraduate teaching committee and worked as a conference organizer. I also served on the Disston Heights Civic Association Board from 2018-2020, and have volunteered on Carter Center initiatives regarding election integrity and promoting civil discourse. I look forward to serving Pinellas County.

TEACHING EXPERIENCE

St. Petersburg College , St. Petersburg, FL Professor (tenured) , Applied Ethics Institute	May 2006 to Present
<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• PHI 1600 Studies in Applied Ethics in every modality and session type. PHI 1600 is an undergraduate course averaging 30 students per section, covering the following topics: basic critical thinking, classical and contemporary ethical theories, contemporary moral issues, and professional responsibility. This includes special topic sections focused on business and professional ethics, environmental ethics, and health care ethics.</li><li>• PHI 2103 Critical Thinking and Ethical Decision-Making, an undergraduate elective course that covers the same material as introduction to logic, including techniques for assessing the soundness and cogency of deductive and inductive inferences.</li><li>• PHI 2621 Applied Ethics II, which is a supplementary one-credit ethics class aimed to help transfer students make up missing required ethics credits.</li></ul>

- PHI 2624 Ethics in Pop Culture and Entertainment, an elective class which allows students to identify and evaluate ethical issues in popular culture and entertainment. The focus is more on issues that arise in the context of the entertainment industry (e.g., exploitation of talent, sexism, ageism), rather than an exploration of ethics through media. Offered as an elective to students in music industry and recording arts program.
- PHI 2647 Ethics in Science and Technology, an elective class focused on ethical issues prevalent in the scientific enterprise and in multiple dimensions of the production and implementation of technology. Topics included ethical issues related to AI and robotics, the ethics of human enhancement, space exploration, and more.
- Regularly taught PHI 1010 Introduction to Philosophy and PHH 2101 Introduction to Ancient Greek Philosophy as an adjunct to the Humanities and Fine Arts Department at SPC.

Staffordshire University, Stoke-on-Trent, UK

January 2021 to May 2021

Teaching Assistant, Philosophy

- Assistant Lecturer for PHIL 70300: Research Topics in Continental Philosophy. The topic was “The Human, The Non-Human, and the Natural Contract.” This graduate seminar focused on the work of French philosopher Michel Serres; I lectured on his book The Parasite.

University of Tampa, Tampa, FL

August 2007 to December 2010

Adjunct Instructor, Philosophy

- Taught PHL 200 Introduction to Philosophy as a survey of philosophical problems rather than as a historical overview, but the class included both primary and secondary source readings from various philosophical traditions.
- Taught PHL 202 Contemporary Ethical Issues, which included a survey of moral theories and then an evaluation of arguments concerning a spectrum of current moral problems.
- Taught PHL 212 Critical Thinking, which was an introduction to logical reasoning. Each section had thirty enrollees who attended lectures in person.
- Taught PHL 220 Sports Ethics as an elective for philosophy majors and sports management majors. A seminar-style section where students lead reading discussions and assessed others’ arguments. Topics included sportsmanship as a moral category, the use of performance-enhancing drugs, and the moral status of violence in the sporting context.

Michigan State University, East Lansing, MI

January 2007 to April 2007

Tutor, Symbolic Logic

- Tutored students in PHL 330 Formal Deductive Reasoning. Course covered deductive methods including truth tables, sentential deduction, and translation and proofs in first-order predicate logic. Helped struggling students learn and assisted with exam preparation.

Western Michigan University, Kalamazoo, MI

August 2004 to April 2006

Graduate Assistant and Course Instructor, Philosophy

- Taught discrete sections of PHIL 201 Introduction to Ethics. Each section numbered 30 students and the course covered ethical theory and its connection to substantive issues in applied ethics.
- Worked as a graduate assistant and discussion leader for PHIL 201 and PHIL 200 Introduction to Philosophy
- Volunteered as graduate student mentor to the undergraduate philosophy club and as an assistant coach for the Intercollegiate Ethics Bowl team.

ADMINISTRATIVE EXPERIENCE

St. Petersburg College, St. Petersburg, FL July 2021 to July 2023

Instructor-in-Charge, Applied Ethics Institute

- The Instructor-in-Charge position is a retitling of “Academic Chair.” Responsibilities involve hiring, training, evaluating and overseeing Applied Ethics Institute adjunct faculty at three campuses. Secondary duties included budget management, department project supervision, and course scheduling. The position was eliminated in 2023 during a college-wide reorganization of academic leadership.

Acting Associate Dean, College of Policy, Ethics and Legal Studies Dec. 2019-July 2020

- Filled in for the Dean of SPC’s College of Policy, Ethics, and Legal Studies when she took on an acting vice presidency. Oversaw faculty in three departments: Public Policy and Administration, Paralegal Studies, and the Applied Ethics Institute. Primary duties included developing and supervising a $3 million budget, as well as emergency planning, scheduling, and personnel management during the COVID-19 outbreak.

Academic Chair, Applied Ethics Institute Jan 2012 to July 2017

- Responsibilities involve hiring, training, evaluating and overseeing Applied Ethics Institute adjunct faculty at three campuses. Secondary duties included budget management, department project supervision, and course scheduling.

Interests & Experiences

State your background, including your education, work experience, civic or community organization memberships and positions, and any professional licenses or memberships, and explain how this applies to the function of the board, council or committee.

I am a licensed attorney, hold a Juris Doctor from Stetson University College of Law, a Master of Arts in Bioethics and Medical Humanities from USF, and over a decade of leadership experience in higher education as a professor and administrator at St. Petersburg College. My roles as Chair of the Applied Ethics Institute and Lead Chair for Academic Programs involved managing budgets, overseeing large-scale projects, and ensuring compliance with institutional policies—skills directly relevant to the Authority’s responsibilities in facilitating financing for educational facilities. Additionally, as Treasurer and Board Member of the International Center for Academic Integrity, I have managed complex financial structures, including overseeing budgets and ensuring fiscal accountability for non-profit initiatives. My experience with governance and financial oversight aligns with the Authority’s mission to assist higher education institutions. With a deep understanding of both the operational and financial needs of educational institutions, I am committed to contributing to the Authority’s efforts to support quality educational infrastructure in Pinellas County.
