Proposal Abstract

The City of St. Petersburg will use its allocated JAG funds to support and continue several crime-prevention and law enforcement initiatives by the St. Petersburg Police Department, including the Neighborhood Safety Initiative, enhanced recruiting efforts, and rental vehicles for special investigations. JAG funding will also be used to provide overtime pay for police officers, enabling them to focus on specific issues at targeted locations and times across the city more effectively. Additionally, the funds will be used to maintain and enhance prevention programs, including the Community Resource Centers, select social media campaigns, and department-supported volunteer programs.

The Pinellas County Sheriff's Office will use its allocated JAG funds to replace the alignment rack and jack system at the Central District Station's fleet garage. The current alignment lift is over 40 years old, and the alignment computer, purchased used, dates to 2015. This equipment is used daily to repair Chevy Tahoe vehicles and trucks operated by sworn members. Funding will support the purchase, installation, and calibration of a new alignment system designed to deliver improved lifting capacity, enhanced alignment accuracy, and full compliance with current safety and operational requirements. This upgrade is essential to maintaining a safe working environment for fleet technicians and ensuring that agency vehicles, particularly patrol units, receive precise, reliable alignment service consistent with modern vehicle technology.
