Ms. Driver,

Could you please explain why this document request has not been responded to in obvious violation of Florida Statute Title X, Chapter 119 and the Florida constitution and who specifically is responsible for your department's failure and or refusal to respond to my written request? It seems that there is a clear pattern of the PCSO to deliberately and intentionally ignore specific written document requests in direct violation of Florida Law. Title X, Chapter 119 also provides the penalty of termination of employment for anyone who fails or refuses to comply with public document requests. I am now asking you who specifically is responsible for the Pinellas County Sheriff Offices repeated failure and refusal to comply with Florida statutes.

At this time I am requesting under Title X, Chapter 119 and the Florida Constitution the following documents;

1. Any and all emails or communications of any type or form from or to Robert Gualtieri that mention James McLynas or any case McLynas is or has been involved with from June 1, 2013 through June 31, 2013.

Ms. Driver,

Could you please explain why this document request has not been responded to in obvious violation of Florida Statute Title X, Chapter 119 and the Florida constitution and who specifically is responsible for your department's failure and or refusal to respond to my written request? It seems that there is a clear pattern of the PCSO to deliberately and intentionally ignore specific written document requests in direct violation of Florida Law. Title X, Chapter 119 also provides the penalty of termination of employment for anyone who fails or refuses to comply with public document requests. I am now asking you who specifically is responsible for the Pinellas County Sheriff Offices repeated failure and refusal to comply with Florida statutes in regard to my request.

Ms. Driver,

Could you please explain why this document request has not been responded to in obvious violation of Florida Statute Title X, Chapter 119 and the Florida constitution and who specifically is responsible for your department's failure and or refusal to respond to my written request? It seems that there is a clear pattern of the PCSO to deliberately and intentionally ignore specific written document requests in direct violation of Florida Law. Title X, Chapter 119 also provides the penalty of termination of employment for anyone who fails or refuses to comply with public document requests. I am now asking you who specifically is responsible for the Pinellas County Sheriff Offices repeated failure and refusal to comply with Florida statutes in regard to my request.

Hi Jerry,

I understand. However, I have recently received three recent document requests from PCSO. I had sent PCSO (and copied you) a second request for two specific documents a) any notice where they had informed me there would be a specific charge for certain documents, and b) the communication from me where I agreed to the charge and authorized them to incur the labor and expense on my behalf. As I had told you in our last meeting, I asked for documents and they sent me a bill as if I had told them "go ahead" when I didn't. It was then these BS charges that I did not authorize that they used as an excuse to refuse to provide me with ALL of these individual requests from 2013 and 2014, some 65 plus requests.

After they received the THIRD request for a) any notice where they had informed me there would be a specific charge for certain documents, and b) the communication from me where I agreed to the charge and authorized them to incur the labor and expense on my behalf, it apparently dawned on them that a) they had no right to charge me, and b) they had been illegally withholding my document requests. I had made three document requests last month to test this and they actually complied with the requests WITHOUT MY PAYING THESUPPOSED PAST DUE AMOUNTS.

These following emails on all of my 65 plus 2013 and 2014 document requests (and my forwarding each clearly actionable one to you) is being done to HELP the future lawsuits, not hurt them. Since now they have effectively admitted that they had illegally withheld these past document requests by complying with my newer document requests it proves there violations. Plus, I STILL need these documents for my defense.

If I am mistaken in my thinking please inform me of the reasoning for my consideration. I don't want to harm myself, but at the same time, I have won EVERYTHING so far against these bastards so I can't be all wrong.

Subject: Re: Outstanding Fees

Dear Ms. Taaffe,

After review of your letter dated 3-11-14 I must contradict several assumptions on your part. First, merely requesting a document or series of documents at no time is an authorization for you or your agency to do any work that would require payment. Nor is merely requesting any document or series of documents an acknowledgment by me or anyone else that they will be legally responsible for any such fees. In each case where a fee would be charged, your agency is required to provide advanced notice of any such fees to the person requesting said records. I have received these type letters from you in the past. These letters provide notice of the potential fees and give the party requesting the records to either pay the deposit to obtain said records or not at their discretion. Please provide any such letters sent by PCSO relating to the records payment listed in your letter.

2. Do you have ANY documents, letters, emails or any other evidence where I personally acknowledged these fees and authorized any such work to be undertaken at my expense?

It is my understanding that Title X, Chapter 119 requires you to inform in advance any person requesting records that there will be a cost involved and the person requesting such records has a choice to incur those costs or not. Is that your understanding as well? If that is the case, then what exactly are you basing any outstanding charges to me on? Title X, Chapter 119 also requires you to answer requests from persons requesting records relating to the costs or fees for said records. I have been asking you for this information for over almost a year and you repeatedly continue to fail and refuse to answer those specific questions. If I am forced to file suit I will seek your termination under the provisions of Title X, Chapter 119 for your continued and failure to comply with these requirements. I will also be posting all of these requests, responses and your failures to both provide documents and respond to direct questions on my campaign website and providing copies to the media as I seek your termination. Govern yourself accordingly.

In accordance with Pam Bondi's guidelines regarding document requests, your department is required to respond for additional information regarding the costs associated with the production of records. I HAVE ASKED YOU FOR ADDITIONAL INFORMATION REGARDING YOUR REQUESTS FOR A DEPOSIT AND HAVE BEEN IGNORED. Ms. Bondi states that you have two alternatives.... answer the questions regarding costs, or provide the documents at no cost.

1. My questions regarding these specific charges you contend are required are as follows. Clearly it would not take your department 9 hours to obtain or copy this deputy's IA file. So why are you contending it would take the entire 9 hours to do so?
2. Who is the specific employee that you contend will be taking the 9 hours to obtain these files and scan them to disc and I am now asking under Title X, chapter 119 for a copy of that employees last paycheck and the records that show how much she makes per hour.
3. How exactly do you contend that you will track this employees time to that he or she will be assured to be working on nothing other than my document request for this deputies IA file for 9 straight uninterrupted hours?
4. What proof will you be able to provide to me to document that the full 9 hours was spent on nothing but this document request?
5. How are these IA files housed or stored that would take 9 hours to retrieve them?

Thank you for your time. I look forward to your responses.
