3.Approach (Best Practices, Models, Timeline):

- a. CRL currently has a Pinellas County OP2, OP3 and color code post-treatment drug programs and staff in place. If rewarded the upcoming contract, CRL will be able to adjust and continue current services to deliver services immediately.
 - i. The current staff has an established working relationship with the Pinellas County Drug Court staff going back fourteen (14) years. CRL will continue to have open dialogue with the judge, lawyers, drug court manager and case managers. This communication takes place via email, phone and in person. CRL will enter all UA results and court reports into the drug court database. While having daily interaction via email and phone. In person communication will occur during pre-court staffing, scheduled meetings and site visits.
 - ii. CRL has worked closely with the Pinellas County Drug Court in many crisis situations since first working together in 2007. CRL has open communication with the drug court team and will alert them of any and all crisis situations. CRL has utilized the walk-in policy implemented by the court to staff and have the client seen by the judge immediately. If the situation is of immediate danger, CRL will call the proper agencies to ensure the safety of the individual and others.
- b. The Center for Rational Living has a successful twenty-five-year history of providing substance abuse treatment services to the criminal justice population. CRL utilizes Rational Emotive Behavior Therapy/Cognitive Behavior Therapy as the evidence-based practice to assist clients in addressing substance abuse and criminal thinking.

The goal of the approach is to help clients recognize, change and cope with thoughts that lead to self-defeating behaviors. The structured approach is well received in both group and individual settings and can be done in brief treatment setting.

Research has shown that cognitive-behavioral coping skill therapies lead to a significant decrease in rates of duration, frequency, and quantity of one's substance use. In addition, many evidence-based practices for reducing criminal thinking focus on the cognitive behavioral model.

- c. Clients will enter the OP2 or OP3 treatment level which will consist of group sessions as outlined in Section E, 2, b, ii and Section E, 2, b, iii. Prior to starting group sessions, each client will attend an assessment which will identify the individual needs of each client. This will be followed up with a treatment plan update within every 30days. Client's treatment will be geared towards the needs presented by each individual. This individual approach can include topics discussed in group sessions and additional individual sessions when the groups are not meeting the needs of the client.
- d. CRL utilizes Rational Emotive Behavioral Therapy approach which research has shown cognitive-behavioral coping skill therapies lead to a significant decrease in rates of duration, frequency and quantity of one's substance use. The therapeutic model used along with random UA's helps the client develop accountability, along with healthy living practices.
- e. CRL recognizes the fluid nature of individuals and agencies. Due to this, CRL is constantly evaluating current situations and adapting to meet the growing and changing needs of our clients and referring agencies. This is done by continuous communication with the drug court and department of corrections. Once an area of need is identified, CRL works with said entities to find ways to best meet the needs of our clients and referring agencies.
- f. CRL attends court sessions on a weekly basis. While in court, CRL staff often speaks with potential clients as to the nature of the program and what the client is hoping to achieve while in drug court. CRL reaches out to clients when appropriate to help assist in the clients success and build a healthy therapeutic relationship.
- g. CRL offers a post treatment color code UA system which the drug court utilizes for continued monitoring of drug court clients. Additionally, CRL is open to clients who complete the OP2 and OP3 programs contacting and engaging with CRL staff. CRL has the "alumni status" which allows a client to come and sit in their old group for no charge. CRL doesn't want financials to be a barrier for an individual reaching out for help. Once the client reaches out, CRL will sit with the client and help construct a treatment plan for the individual. This can include but is not limited to attending 12 step meetings, increasing support system or re-enrolling in a program.

- h. With CRL having an established drug court OP2 and OP3 program, there are minimal, if any, barriers to implementing the contracted programs. CRL will use communication with the drug court team to identify any barriers and to overcome them.
- i. CRL has demonstrated with its current and past contacts with the drug court a willingness to attend off sight court dates and meetings. CRL will continue to have a staff representative at judicial review court dates and any meetings with the court staff.
- j. CRL currently has two locations in Pinellas County that meet all of DCF 65D-30 requirements for a substance abuse facility. These locations are fully licensed by DCF and are operating under all local and state laws. CRL has locations established in Clearwater and St Petersburg to allow accessibility to both the north and south populations of the county. Additionally, CRL's locations are situated on major bus lines allowing accessibility for individuals without personal transportation.
- k. CRL will provide foreign language interpreters in order to effectively communicate with clients during delivery of service when needed.
- l. CRL is requesting a $7.00 per session co-pay additional the $40.00 per session contracted rate. This co-pay will be made known to all clients at time of orientation. CRL will be responsible for all collections of co-pays. All payments are recorded on the client's daily sheet which will be provided to the court for billing purposes. Receipts will be provided to clients for payments made.
- m. CRL will provide drug court with weekly orientation calendar logs for each location. The log will include the clients name, treatment level, phone number and court ID number. CRL will update the court post orientation of which individuals attended or no showed. For the individuals who showed, CRL will provide a start date. This start date will be no more than fourteen (14) after the referred date.
- n. Qualifications of treatment staff are an important component of the Outpatient Level II & III Substance Abuse Treatment Program.
