Comments Having film productions locally gives us more job opportunities to fulfill and not to mention, the talent in this state for film productions is amazing. Florida cannot keep establishing this "no film in Florida" ordeal. It could boost soo much economically and put the state on a better radar for productions like this.

Comments	I support this incentive funding because this helps independent filmmakers, like myself, work on a legitimate film project. Artists have suffered greatly during the pandemic, many left the business for good. Funding this project puts back into the community and to the artists to not only work on something they love, but also helps them pay rent, bills, gas, and food. We love this area and only want to honor our city when we film here.

Comments Every time a production comes to the greater Tampa Bay area, dozens and dozens of independent contractors are given the opportunity to work in their field and represent the finest of filmmaking in Florida. Independent Contractors and Freelancers were some of the hardest hit in Florida since Covid started. Actors and crew members are hungry to get back to work and need feature films like this to help put food on the table and pay bills. Many people in the film industry have sacrificed months and months of work and pay because of Covid. This film is a great chance to help our film community bounce back from a difficult time. I fully support this project and the substantial economic impact it will have in Pinellas and neighboring counties.

Comments	This film, supported by the county, in turn, supports my business and my contractors. Pinellas County has supported other films that benefited me and a team of 12 local artists including students of film making. Continued support is required to especially after a devastating year in film production.
