Strategic Plan:

4.6 Support a vibrant community with recreation, arts, and culture to attract residents and visitors

Summary:

The City of Clearwater (City) is seeking funding support for improvements to the Philadelphia Phillies spring training facilities from Tourist Development Tax (TDT) proceeds. The City and the Phillies have agreed to a term sheet that outlines a new 20-year agreement. The total project cost is estimated at $79.7M and would address improvements at both Spectrum Field and the adjacent Carpenter Complex. The City is seeking $40.0M in TDT funds from the Tourist Development Plan Capital Funding program. The balance of the project would be funded by the state ($13.7M), City ($16.0M), and the Phillies ($10.0M). The Phillies will be responsible for any costs exceeding the estimated $79.7M total project cost.

Draft deliverables include economic impact study, detailed project description, budget, timeline, financing plan, and marketing and benefits plan. County review of deliverables will include legal analysis of applicability of using tourist development tax proceeds for specific elements of the proposed project, as well as financing, funding, and agreement terms.

Background Information:

As reflected in the attached Category E Tourist Tax Process Map, conceptual approval by the Board of County Commissioners (Board) is the first step in considering the City request. The City's application will include the draft deliverables as detailed in attachment and any additional deliverables as directed by the Board and the TDC. If the Board provides conceptual approval, the TDC will review and provide input at its February 20 meeting.

After the City submits its application, County staff, with support from consultants, will negotiate an agreement with the City to be considered by the Board.

Fiscal Impact:

Requested funding of $40.0M in Tourist Development Tax proceeds from FY20-24. The Capital Funding program is funded with 40% of total TDT revenue collected and, without consideration of other requests that may be received, is forecast to have capacity to support the payment schedule as requested.
